

Live Poultry Transport Cages & Equipment

Lufkin, TX

Bright Coop has been a manufacturer of live poultry cages for poultry transportation for 51 years. The cages are built to move poultry from the grower to the processing plants. Bright Coop had experience with hot-dip galvanizing and believed galvanized cages were the safest and most cost effective.

Bright Coop uses hot-dip galvanized steel for the cages because of its performance in highly corrosive environments. Not only are the hot-dip galvanized cages able to withstand the abrasiveness of loading, unloading, and transport across the country, but they are also easy to wash down and sanitize as required. The galvanized cages will enable Bright Coop to continue to thrive in the growing poultry industry for years to come.

